Finally, she was on the RIGHT track. When she arrived at the church, she realized that she only had one hour LEFT before the wedding and she still had her hair and makeup LEFT to do. So she went RIGHT to work and finished with some time LEFT to spare.

They were now husband and wife! The couple got RIGHT into their car and sped RIGHT off to the reception. On the way there, (bride's name) talked about how happy she was to be his wife, how everything seemed just RIGHT and nothing was LEFT out.

At the reception, everyone toasted to the couple's happiness. There wasn't a dry eye LEFT in the room, and (bride's name) was so happy she teared RIGHT up!

Off on their honeymoon they LEFT! Of course, it wouldn't be RIGHT to say where they went, but let's just say it was the RIGHT place for them.

So, now there's nothing LEFT to say except enjoy the rest of your day. Just for fun, though, pass once more to the LEFT. Now see, that was fun! RIGHT?
